CIVIL SOCIETY FUND

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS #02 – LARGE PROJECTS

HUMAN RIGHTS STRENGTHENED

The EEA Civil Society Fund is part of Iceland, Liechtenstein, and Norway's contribution to the 15 European Union (EU) Member States under the European Economic Area (EEA) Grants. The aims of the EEA Grants are to reduce social and economic disparities in the EEA and to strengthen bilateral relations between the Donor States and Beneficiary States.

The Civil Society Fund aims to support a vibrant and resilient civil society protecting and promoting democracy, the rule of law, and human rights.

The Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation (CGF), in consortium with the Bissaya Barreto Foundation (BBF), has been selected as the Fund Operator of the EEA Civil Society Fund in Portugal, following an open and public tender procedure launched for that purpose.

This call targets Civil Society Organisations (CSOs) who wish to contribute to the Civil Society Fund Outcome 2: "Human Rights strengthened", through initiatives that protect fundamental rights, promote equality and non-discrimination, and strengthen the capacity of civil society and institutions to uphold human rights standards in Portugal.

Strengthening human rights protection in Portugal has become increasingly urgent, as persistent and systemic challenges continue to affect migrants, women, LGBTQI+ people, people with disabilities, and marginalised communities. Despite significant legal and institutional progress, gaps in implementation, limited institutional capacity, and insufficient public awareness undermine effective compliance with international human rights standards. Rising polarisation, the spread of negative and securitised narratives around migration, and growing perceptions of insecurity are exacerbating discrimination and social exclusion. In addition, low levels of public awareness and engagement in human rights issues, combined with limited capacity and uneven access to protection and support services, further constrain the effective safeguarding of rights.

Structural gender inequality, endemic domestic and gender-based violence, and ongoing barriers to sexual and reproductive rights remain among the most pervasive human rights concerns. At the same time, limited civil society capacity in areas such as environmental justice and human rights advocacy, combined with misinformation, polarised public discourse, and uneven media portrayals, hinders collective action to safeguard rights and promote inclusion.

In addressing these challenges, the Civil Society Fund deliberately adopts a learning-oriented and risk-tolerant approach, while strictly adhering to the do-no-harm principle. The Fund recognises that meaningful innovation and systemic change often involve uncertainty and experimentation. However, such experimentation is supported only to the extent that it does not cause harm to the communities or end beneficiaries the Fund seeks to serve. The Fund is therefore open to supporting initiatives that may not fully achieve their intended results, provided that they are grounded in robust analysis, thoughtful design, and the best efforts of the organisations involved, and that appropriate safeguards are in place to protect beneficiaries. Failure, when responsibly managed and without adverse impacts on communities, is understood as a potential source of learning rather than a reason for exclusion.

The Fund also acknowledges that lasting social and cultural change is typically the result of long-term and cumulative efforts. For this reason, the Fund is open to financing projects in continuity, even when they are not new or innovative, as long as they are clearly embedded in a broader, coherent, and strategic process of systemic change. In many cases, maintaining and scaling approaches that have already demonstrated relevance is essential to reaching a point where change becomes self-sustaining and widely adopted. Sustained engagement, consolidation of previous work, and incremental progress are therefore valued when they help gradual cultural change, strengthen social cohesion, and build the momentum necessary to shift attitudes, practices, and social norms and to foster institutional cultures that uphold human rights in more consistent, inclusive, and lasting ways.

Finally, the Fund expresses a clear preference for upstream approaches that anticipate, prevent, and strengthen capacities before problems become entrenched and negative practices and behaviours become normalised. While acknowledging the importance of addressing existing challenges, the Fund particularly encourages initiatives that seek to prevent human rights violations and tackle their social, cultural, and institutional drivers, including harmful social norms, discrimination, misinformation, and institutional practices, rather than focusing primarily on corrective or remedial action.

Applications shall be submitted online through the website: eeagrants.org/pt/eea-civil-society-fund-portugal and shall follow the evaluation and selection procedures detailed in this notice.

Without prejudice to the specifications contained in this notice, the provisions of the Fund Rules shall apply to this call for applications and should therefore be consulted by applicants, especially regarding the rules on eligibility of applicants and the selection procedures. The Fund Rules, the Manual and other useful information can be found on the Fund's website.

Each supported project shall also, for each of the selected indicators, identify quantified, project-level target values according to its nature, objectives and expected results. As a general rule, each project should be assigned to only one Output and make use of the indicators associated with that Output, contributing to at least one output indicator and one outcome indicator, excluding those related to capacity-building. However, project logic shall take precedence over the reporting framework; where duly justified, a project may therefore be linked to more than one Output if it requires the use of indicators from multiple Outputs.

2. Eligible Applicants

2.1 Project promoters must comply with the general conditions of eligibility of the Fund established in Article 7 of the Fund Rules. The limitation established in the number 5 of Article 7 applies to this call.

External consultants are prohibited from designing or submitting applications on behalf of others. Any consultant found advertising or providing such services will be disqualified from participating in or delivering services for supported projects.

4.4 The first phase shall consist of the submission of a short, well-structured concept proposal, which includes the project's total estimated budget.

4.5 Applications to the first phase must be submitted from 3 July 2026 until 29 September 2026, at 12:00 (GMT/Lisbon time).

4.6 Applicants who advance to the second phase shall be invited to submit a detailed project structure, detailing the components that integrate the respective budget, targets, indicators and schedule.

Appeals shall follow the procedure established in number 7 of Article 18 of the Fund Rules.

c) A helpline, via e-mail and phone, for the clarification of queries;

d) Online information, namely, through FAQ published on the Fund's website;

e) A specific mechanism with individual support on project preparation, provided by external experts, made available to applicants selected to proceed to the second phase of the application process. This mechanism will consist of two different facilities:

i. Revision of the application form draft, providing advice on what should be improved, which can be requested up to 12 days before the deadline for the second phase of applications;

ii. Consultancy to support applicants in turning their idea into a project, which can be requested in the 10 days following the notification of approval to second phase of applications;

6.2 The eligible applicants for the specific mechanism mentioned in paragraph e) of number 6.1 are limited to CSOs with an annual turnover of up to 250,000 euros for the i. Revision of applications and up to 150,000 euros for the ii. Consultancy to support applicants.

6.3 In addition to the condition mentioned in 6.2, applicant CSOs can only receive this specific support if one of the following conditions is met:

a) They are located in underserved geographic areas (outside the Lisbon and Porto Metropolitan Areas);

b) They have been created and/or are composed of refugees, migrants, Roma or victims of gender-based violence, regardless of where they are headquartered.

7. Methodology of analysis, evaluation and scoring of applications

7.1 As defined in Article 20 of the Fund Rules, for each phase of applications, the scores are assigned by five experts on a scale between 0 and 100 points. Each application receives five scores. For the final score, the highest and lowest scores for each application are excluded, and the final score is calculated from the average of the remaining three scores.

7.2 For the first phase of applications, the evaluation and scoring of the applications shall be performed according to the selection criteria and the weights set in this notice as follows:

Criteria	Weight
1. Relevance of the project in relation to the Fund's objective: alignment of the identified problems with the Fund's objective and expected results; substantiation of the identified needs and target groups; and understanding of the underlying causes, structural factors, systems, or prevailing mindsets	35
2. Clarity and coherence of the proposed concept: clarity of the proposal, with a clear change logic, connecting the identified problems and the expected change; and approaches that act upstream, in proactive, anticipatory, or preventative ways;	30
3. Concept potential for systemic change: expected results; and/or contribution beyond immediate symptoms/challenges, to strategic leverage points for broader and more sustainable change; and/or any differentiating factor, including the participation of donor country entities	35
Total	100

7.3 For the second phase of applications, the evaluation and scoring of the applications shall be performed according to the selection criteria and the weights set in this notice as follows:

Criteria	Weight
1. Project feasibility: quality of project design, including its internal coherence, adequate planning, reasonable and appropriate goals and expected results, temporal and financial feasibility, adequacy of allocated human and physical resources, and the inclusion of the necessary partners, including the participation of donor country entities; and the organisation's suitability to implement the project, including technical and managerial capabilities	35
2. Suitability of the proposed intervention strategies: reasoning, relevance and quality of proposed methodologies, including synergy and articulation between resources, partners and diverse sectors and the adoption of participatory methodologies	30
3. Sustainability of the project's results: scale of results; and/or impact on beneficiaries' lives; and/or the potential for lasting impact beyond its direct implementation, namely for replicability, scalability, continuity, or adoption by others; and/or contribution to structural, cultural, or systemic change (root causes, influencing systems, practices, incentives, norms, narratives or power relations); and/or potential for knowledge creation	35

7.4 Although the evaluation is split into two phases, which classify the application based on different criteria, the evaluation must focus on the same object, i.e., the application should not change its objective and main characteristics between phases, under penalty of exclusion.

8. Selection process and reserve list

8.1 The selection follows the process established in Article 23 of the Fund Rules.

8.2 Only applications with a final score equal to or above 60 points may be selected to advance to a subsequent phase and to receive a grant. Evaluators may request clarifications and make recommendations for improvement for the applications advancing to the second phase, which shall be addressed in the second application form.

8.3 The Fund Operator ensures alignment of the applications moving on to phase 2 with the Fund's objective.

8.4 To ensure competition in the second phase, applications corresponding to up to 200% of this call's allocation may advance to the second phase.

8.5 Whenever appropriate, the Selection Committee establishes a reserve list from the list of applications selected for approval, to be used in case of withdrawals or savings, composed of the highest-scoring not-selected applications for lack of available budget. The reserve list is ranked according to the score of each application up to a limit of 10% of the budget available for this call.

8.6 The Programme Director may draw applications from the reserve list to be supported, should funding become available due to savings or unused funds in previously approved projects. The reserve list is valid for up to 4 months following the notification decision, meaning that applications that are not selected to receive a grant by that date are automatically considered not selected.

9. Grant contracting

9.1 Promoters of selected projects shall be notified individually of the Steering Committee's decisions as foreseen in Article 24 of the Fund Rules.

9.2 The contracting of selected projects shall follow the process established in Article 25 of the Fund Rules.

9.3 Grant contracts will necessarily include the elements established in Article 27 of the Fund Rules.

10. Eligible costs and budget, grant form, and payment system

10.1 Eligible costs are those actually incurred by the project promoter or the eligible partners, as well as expenditure covered by simplified cost options, according to the criteria laid down in Article 41 of the Fund Rules.

10.2 Applicants should estimate, as a basis, 24 hours for reporting to the Fund, which would be advisable to budget for in the application. This estimate is based on three reports, defined in Articles 32 and 34 of the Fund Rules, taking an estimated 2,5 hours to complete, as well as one payment claim, taking an estimated 2,5 hours to complete, and seven two-hour meetings with the Fund, defined in Articles 25 and 37 of the Fund Rules, for a two-year project.

10.3 Projects shall be broken down into two to four components, as defined in Article 26 of the Fund Rules.

10.4 Projects shall establish a draft budget to be converted into lump sums, based on the project's components. The amounts for the lump sums shall be established ex ante, through a draft budget developed on a case-by-case basis and agreed by the Fund Operator before the signature of the grant contract, as defined in Article 40 of the Fund Rules.

10.5 The costs associated with service provision, i.e., those foreseen in paragraphs e) and f) of number 5 and on number 6 of Article 41 of the Fund Rules, shall be excluded from the lump sum and considered as real costs, established in paragraph a) of number 1 of Article 40 of the Fund Rules.

10.6 Capacity-building allocations, as defined in Article 12 of the Fund Rules, are limited to service provision costs.

10.7 The inclusion of an expenditure item in a project budget approved by the FO cannot be considered as confirmation of the eligibility of that expenditure item.

10.8 The approved grant is disbursed according to the payment system set in Article 43 of the Fund Rules.

11. Budget Allocation

11.1 The total budget allocated to this call is 1,562,500 euros.

11.2 Whenever part of the budget allocated to this call isn't fully used to fund the applications selected and the applications on the reserve list, the remainder budget is transferred to future calls of the same Outcome.

12. Publicity and additional information

12.1 This notice and other relevant information, including the Fund Rules, the application forms and the Manual, are available on the Fund's website: eeagrants.org/pt/eea-civil-society-fund-portugal.
